EXCELLENCE IN BARIATRICS

Stephan Myers, MD, is a board certified general surgeon who has been practicing surgery for 30 years. Dr. Myers graduated from the University of Cincinnati College of Medicine, completed his residency at the Maine Medical Center, and did further fellowship training in pediatric surgery. Dr. Myers is a leader in robotic bariatric surgery and has a special interest in bariatric surgery as a treatment for Type 2 Diabetes.

David Tichansky, MD, is a board certified surgeon who graduated from Rutgers New Jersey Medical School. He completed his general surgery residency at Thomas Jefferson University Hospital and went on to obtain his minimally invasive and bariatric surgery fellowship at The Medical College of Virginia. Throughout his career, Dr. Tichansky has performed extensive research focused on improving patient safety, outcomes, and care.

John Fam, MD, is a board certified bariatric surgeon who graduated from Michigan State University College of Human Medicine. He completed his residency at Loma Linda University Medical Center. Dr. Fam’s minimally invasive surgery fellowship at Reading Hospital and his experience in robot-assisted surgery allows him to provide advanced weight loss treatment options with the smallest incisions.

Leon Katz, MD, is a board certified general surgeon specializing in bariatric surgery, with a fellowship in advanced laparoscopic and bariatric surgery. After graduating from New York University School of Medicine and completing his residency at Saint Barnabas Medical Center, Dr. Katz now uses the latest, minimally invasive techniques and technologies at Reading Hospital to help people achieve their weight loss goals.
